Jacob Jhon Gabriel B. Panesa

(Saving image ruined the quality of image)

Upon checking YouTube, I immediately noticed many elements and boxes, and by looking at it you can tell its big boxes and elements. To be precise, on boxing the elements, I used different colors to easily recognize each box and labeled them as their purpose and elements.

For the Big Boxes, it have Header, Main Page and Side Bar Navigation. On the other hand, it has Small Elements: User's Profile, Create Video and Notification, Search Bar and Microphone, Genre and Topic Suggestion, Logo, Flex Boxes Video Contents, User's Action History, Channel Subscribed and Home, Shorts and Subscription Navigations.

Furthermore, Header consists of 3 elements, it has a Search Bar with Microphone, User's profile and Logo. The search bar's action is when clicked, recent searches and search suggestions will appear, for microphone, this is for searching without typing but using voice. For the Size Bar Navigation, it is also divided into 3 elements (explore section can be included but I can't see it up to its bottom.) which are User's Action History, Channel Subscribed and Home, Shorts and Subscription Navigations.